Riley Stright

Edgewood High School- Age 16

Riley maintains academic excellence while acting as a role model to the student body at Edgewood High School. She is dedicated to serving her community and commits a tremendous amount of time outside of school volunteering for multiple service groups. Riley is a member of the Principal's Advisory Council and participates in three PAC community projects a year, taking a leading role in each event, and helping to choose a non-profit to collect donations for. She donates her time and personal money to make sure each event is a success, and is known for her "can do" spirit and for completing tasks with a smile on her face.

Riley serves as an office worker in the school's main office, and meets and greets visitors, students, and parents upon their arrival to the office. She is admired for taking the lead on projects and guiding others by example. Riley is hard-working and cares about her academics- maintaining an excellent GPA. She truly cares about her classmates, teachers, and school, and everyone she interacts with is treated with care and respect!
